The inability to fall asleep or stay asleep is known as insomnia, and it is one of the most common of all health complaints.