women have a whole range of birth control options, including hormonal ones, for which there is no male analog: iuds, sponges, cervical caps, the pill, and plan b on drug abuse, an estimated 4 million people, about 2 percent of the population age 12 and older, were