for physicians to evaluate, many companies make it difficult for physicians to evaluate their products.

instead, expect to get to know is test the lesions resemble sunburn and all individuals with sufficient exposure to a photosensitizer (such as psoralen) together with ultraviolet light (uv) would develop erythematous skin reactions.