the cryopreservation or freezing embryos usually take place for around 60 of all patients having ivf treatment if the shaver gets ruined by being dropped or when being placed into its owner, it should not be used further