i use to wear foundation everyday but after i found a great facialist i realized i needed to get over my fear of bare skin all discover vision centers have ophthalmologists, optometrists, and optical shops working together all under one roof, resulting in convenient, one-stop shopping for their customers what could be better than a role where i'm working with intelligent people, meeting brilliant entrepreneurs and given time to think carefully about my next company?