it's this discovery that led scientists to believe that abandoned mines could contain rare earths eligibility requirements for the governor include a minimum age of 30, us and state citizenship for at least five years, and a five-year state residency