the authors concluded maintenance rituximab therapy should be included as treatment for individuals with relapsed or refractory follicular lymphoma who responded to induction therapy.

to capture the moments that occur every day on smartphones - the most personal device we've ever owned.